

Mark Comparisons

Manufacturing
GOOD

General Electric
General Electric is famous for its role as a pioneering conglomerate in electricity, appliances, and aviation. This logo keeps their value of their roots with the elegant monogram. The curves in the circle frame help balance and center the letters, and the use of one color creates a friendliness approach and timeless feel.

Non-Profit
GOOD

Cavaliers Community Foundation
The Cavaliers Community Foundation is a non-profit that invests in organizations that support the youth of northeast Ohio. The logo contains the Cleveland skyline and a basketball in the team colors to emphasize the identity of the Cavs, and giving back to the community that Cleveland is in. The skyline inside the basketball eliminates any crowded hierarchy.

Professional
GOOD

Oelschlager Investments
Oelschlager Investments is an investment management firm that provides portfolio management. The interwoven o's represent their connection with clients, and the soft blue's provide a calmer presence for trust.

Retail
GOOD

Gervasi Vineyard
Gervasi Vineyard is a Tuscan-style resort and winery. The logo is a smart combination of the wax mouth of the wine bottle that's sealed, and the monogram. The red is distinctive of wax sealed wine bottles, and the thin serif typeface adds to the environment of fine dining.

Service
GOOD

Pritt Entertainment Group
Video production company for local and national clients. The logo is successful in including film accents of the blue framing of a lens with the abbreviation.

BAD

Cummins
Cummins designs, manufactures, and distributes diesel engines, electric vehicle components, and power generation products. The large "C" is squished to where it could even be mistaken as a sideways "U". The name at an angle directs the eye to nothing else in the logo, and the "s" is cutting out of the large "C".

BAD

Ohio & Erie Canalway
Ohio & Erie Canalway is a private non-profit that focuses on developing the heritage area in Summit, Stark, and Tuscarawas Counties. The "O&E" disrupts the rest of the logo, looking like a smaller logo mark within the full logo.

BAD

Pfeiffer Law LLC
Pfeiffer Law is a firm that focuses in Estate Planning, Estate and Trust Administration, Asset Protection Planning, Business Law, and Real Estate Law. While the tree does represent them aiding and working with families and wills, the navy square enclosing it appears more as a stamp. Additionally the text below does not balance the tree on top.

BAD

Finny's Sports Bar and Grill
Finny's Sports Bar and Grill is a local Norton restaurant. The logo is over cluttered with beer, and various sports equipment to represent the aesthetic of the sports bar. "Finny's" does not appear within the logo, but as if sticker-ed on top, almost going of the circular frame. Multiple colors cause view to graze over the logo and only look at the name.

BAD

Buckeye Guys Roofing
Buckeye Guys Roofing services northeast Ohio property owners on any roofing consultations and jobs. The use of Ohio State Buckeyes colors falls short, and instead appears as a non-professional look for a credited business. The gray letters against white prove difficult to read as well.
